ABOUT WESTPORT, COUNTY MAYO

Few towns in Ireland can match Westport's charisma and continental flavour. Cheerful, multi-coloured shop fronts jostle for attention with an attractive selection of shops, pubs, cafés and restaurants. Little wonder that Westport has become one of Ireland's most popular and cosmopolitan holiday destinations. Westport kisses the Atlantic Ocean and lies against the backdrop of the protective Croagh Patrick under the watchful eye of the chapel at its peak.

Westport has won a selection of awards including: Ireland's Tidiest Large Town 2015 & The Best Place to Live in Ireland in 2012. We have no doubt that you will be mesmerized by this incredible part of Ireland and by the genuinely warm welcome that you will receive.

SPECTACULAR GOLF COURSES

CARNE GOLF LINKS

Carne Golf Links is considered by many as one of the top 10 links courses in Ireland. Carne has recently been ranked amongst the Top 50 courses in the UK and Ireland. This superb links course is located on the Mullet Peninsula on the edge of the Atlantic Ocean. Opened in 1995, Carne is the last links course to be designed by Eddie Hackett and many believe it is his best. This natural links course has been designed around the impressive sand dunes, and overlooks Blacksod Bay and the wild Atlantic Ocean. This stunning course has been described as "nature's gift to golf."

WESTPORT GOLF CLUB

The Golfers Guide to Ireland 2016, voted Westport as 'The Best Parkland course in Connaught' in 2014 & 2016. Sitting on the edge of Clew Bay you may well need to look up at the ever present Croagh Patrick mountain for inspiration! This Fred Hawtree designed course is simply a joy to play and has hosted to the Irish PGA Championship in 1997 & 2002, the Irish Close Championship in 1977, 1985, 1997 & 2005, and The Irish Seniors in 1988 & 2000. Rory McIlroy became the youngest ever winner of the Irish Close Championship at Westport Golf Club in 2005.

CONNEMARA GOLF LINKS

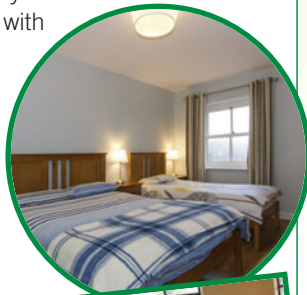

Golf on the edge of Europe... Voted Best Links Course in Connaught 2016 by The Golfers Guide to Ireland, this stunning Links course is situated along the majestic west coast of Connemara, surrounded by the Atlantic Ocean and 12 Bens Mountain range. Connemara was designed by world famous golf architect Eddie Hackett and opened in June 1973. Connemara has become established as one of the finest links courses in Ireland and plays host to the longest running Pro-Am in Ireland. Connemara also played host to The Irish Amateur Close Championship in 2013. This truly natural links offers a breathtaking view on every hole and is guaranteed to inspire.
